WE WISH A VERY HAPPY, HEALTHY, AND SUCCESSFUL NEW YEAR TO ALL OUR READERS AND ADVERTISERS

Firefighters to get extra payments

A grievance appeal panel has concluded that South Wales Fire and Rescue Service should give Cowbridge firefighters more compensation, after it reduced a reorganisation package from five to three years.

by GEM REPORTER

The compensation package was paid as a result of downgrading Cowbridge fire station – where the firefighters worked – from 'day crewing' to the 'retained duty system' (RDS).

An existing agreement between the Fire Brigades' Union and the Fire Service gives firefighters a non-detrimental package for five years, in order to cover increased travelling costs and loss of potential earnings.

Jo Byrne, chair of the FBU in South Wales, said: "This is a wonderful victory for FBU members, not only at Cowbridge Fire Station, but in the service as a whole. All firefighters should be treated fairly by the service and Cowbridge members have now been awarded what is rightfully theirs."

Cowbridge fire station was the last day-crewed station to be downgraded, as part of South Wales Fire and Rescue Services' risk reduction plan.

Firefighters from all the stations closed beforehand were given full packages that would run for five years.

The appeal hearing in December, overturning a previous ruling, concluded that firefighters had been treated unfairly by having their non-detrimental package reduced from five to three years.

Firefighters from Cowbridge fire station will now receive two further years of payments.

South Wales Fire and Rescue Service said it would make no further comment on the matter.

GEM readers respond to animal appeal

THE GEM would like to warmly thank our readers for their response to the 'Animal Welfare Donation' campaign this Christmas.

Joanne Eveleigh, who helped to organise the campaign, said: "We have had a great response to our appeal and would like everyone to know that the items collected are starting to be distributed."

Play area gets a £20,000 revamp

ONE of Cowbridge's most popular children's playgrounds has just been treated to a £20,000 refurbishment programme.

The Twt play area now has two new cradle seat swings, a timber and rope adventure play frame, two new timber climbing towers for children aged three years and over, and four new benches.

A Vale Council spokesman said: "The council provided £20,000 towards the project, which was planned and delivered in partnership with the Cowbridge with Llanblethian Town Council, who own and maintain the park.

"The town council carried out public consultation beforehand with users of the park, especially parents and children, who gave their views on the preferred option for the new equipment".

The Vale Council cabinet member for regeneration, innovation, planning and transportation, Coun Lis Burnett, commented: "This project has meant a much-used play area in the heart of Cowbridge will continue to be enjoyed by generations of children for years to come."

The council was able to offer financial support to the project after negotiating a contribution for public open space improvements in Cowbridge from Taylor Wimpey, the developers of the Former Lower School site on Town Mill Road, through a Section 106 planning agreement.

The council was also able to provide financial support to Cowbridge Rugby Club through the same funding opportunity, and this was used to help provide new changing facilities earlier this year.

Off with the old, on with the new...for a fresh start!

AS we bid farewell to a turbulent 2014 and greet the first day of a new year that could prove even more of a political and social watershed, the revels are tinged with more nervous anticipation than usual.

Many will be glad to see the back of a fractious 12 months that seemed to have more than its share of negative media headlines detailing natural disasters, financial deficits, funding crises, foodbanks, acrimonious disputes at home, and rising global terrorism.

However, The GEM remains ever hopeful that this new year will bring more positive outcomes to remember on all fronts.

We will, as always, continue to do our part by presenting a more balanced picture in our columns of the true human spirit – reflected in many selfless actions and heartwarming stories of ordinary men and women in our own local community.

This is a world away from the kind of bitter conflicts and controversies that marked so much of last year. It is fervently to be hoped that in this momentous general election year, politicians of all parties will have learnt a lesson from the divisive, highly-personalised attacks engendered by the Scottish referendum that still threaten to disunite the United Kingdom.

To paraphrase a certain great parliamentarian: "jaw-jaw is better than war-war."

That message was underlined earlier this week by the director general of the influential British Chambers of Commerce, John Langworth, who called on all our politicians to rise above point-scoring in the forthcoming election campaign.

He warned that – "tawdry political tactics would deflect from the important issues facing the UK economy."

Let us pray that January 1, 2015 heralds a fresh start for frank but civilised, democratic debate, focusing on real grass-roots issues that affect us all on a daily basis, rather than dreary, bipartisan confrontation for party advantage.

It may be forlorn, but that at least is our fervent wish at the dawn of this new year.

After all, the public deserve nothing less.

THE EDITOR

Great year for the Friends and Neighbours

I WOULD like to take the opportunity to thank Marlene, Chris, Gail, Jen, Andrea, Sue, Joyce and Eve for all their support in ensuring Friends and Neighbours had such a wonderful 2014 programme.

Thanks also to Jane Hutt AM and Alun Cairns MP for their support throughout the year, and to both Vale Council and Barry Town Council for their support.

Age Connect Cardiff and Vale Senior Health Shop have let us have use of the Senior Health Shop for the monthly meetings and many of the customers that use the shop have joined the group as a result

The group had a wonderful year, including trips, lunches visits to theatre including Lion King at Wales Millennium Centre and, of course, their Christmas party to finish the year off.

This was thanks to sponsorship from Barry Round Table, Barry Rotary Club and Renishaw.

The programme for 2015 has lots going on and with membership increasing, the group has moved to Beryl Road Pioneer Hall.

Gaye Fifield,
Coordinator, Friends and Neighbours.

'Fewer councillors will save money'

A RECENT correspondent (GEM letters, December 18) commented on the saving of some £24,000 on the provision of recycling and waste information online, or on application by telephone.

He/she then asked if anyone else had a feasible suggestion for any further savings?

May I suggest a review of councillor numbers?

At a time when services are cut or reduced, surely it is not unreasonable to consider amalgamating wards or parts of wards and thus reducing the number of councillors?

A reduction of five to 10 per cent of the latter would not damage local democracy – and the money saved could help to support essential services.

'Council merger debate was a Dickensian affair'

THE recent debate at the Vale of Glamorgan Council meeting about the proposed voluntary merger with Bridgend, turned out to be a bit of a Dickensian affair.

The ghost of Christmas past was clearly visible from councillors of different political persuasions. The image of the 'old candle-carrying' South Glamorgan was raised repeatedly to describe how Cardiff would get the lion's share of resources (no mention that Cardiff had three times the number of taxpayers).

There were frequent references to the council leader being bullied by the Minister to move away from the previous, almost unanimous, council decision – that the council were doing a great job and should be left alone.

Gone are those days of harmony when just one councillor disagreed with the rest.

However, the ghost of Christmas present emerged when most councillors failed to address criticisms of local government, the very high number of councillors in Wales, and a probable increase in council tax.

There were some comments relating to the council crossing the Welsh Government red-lines of Health Board boundaries, European aid money and preferred merging partners; but very little about how a Bridgend outcome would produce many more Vale councillors than a Cardiff merger.

The council's submission to WG was described as weak, and that it failed to make the case for a Bridgend merger, particularly due to the lack of convincing evidence of public engagement.

The issue was summarised by the leader as a simple case of ABC: anyone but Cardiff, because that would be a takeover, and we wouldn't want that would we?

Secretly, I suspect some felt that may be the best way forward.

And then there was the ghost of Christmas yet to come. The possibility of just six councils in Wales; regional local government structures; massive reductions in public expenditure and the fate of political careers in the hands of a very unpopular Minister. It doesn't look like a happy ending for Tiny Tim.

There was the occasional lack of Christmas spirit during the debate, but the vote was a predictable win for the Labour-led administration, with a decent number of votes against, and an unsurprising number of abstentions. How times change!

"Bah," said Scrooge, "Humbug".

What a panto to remember!

WOW! What an absolutely spectacular performance of Cinderella at the Memorial Hall, Barry, on December 21, performed by the brilliant Billboard Ensemble.

Every year seems to get better and better. The performance was in typical panto style, with the main male characters played by women and the very funny Ugly Sisters and Baroness Hardup played by men.

The costumes were absolutely stunning, as was the singing and dancing.

What a lovely way to get into the Christmas spirit. Thank you for an amazing show.

Barry Island is the place to be in 2015!

I AM writing to say how much I agree with people who say that Barry Island is the place to visit in 2015.

With a series of redevelopments taking place, Barry Island really is an up and coming resort and looking pretty good.

As well as the redevelopments, thanks to public pressure a new relief road will be built between Barry Waterfront and Barry Island, which will make it easier for people to visit the resort.

We have also seen developments on the Eastern Shelter with new lighting, facilities and beach huts and although I did not support the bringing of these huts, I suppose it is something else for visitors to use. We need to bring back visitors to our jewel in the crown, and what has happened so far will certainly help.

On top of this, we now have a promise to rejuvenate the pleasure park by fairground veteran Henry Danter, which is badly needed after years of decline; a new ASDA store creating 300 jobs; and the redevelopment of the former pump house into quality shops and restaurants.

So far, so good, but we still desperately need a new cinema, a cabaret club and a water park. But at least Barry Island is finally moving in the right direction.

Coun Richard Bertin, Barry
(Independent, Vale of Glamorgan Council)

'Travellers are not Romany'

IN this season of 'goodwill to all men... and women' what to do about the site in Hayes Road, Sully, currently occupied by 'Travellers'?

I may be mistaken, but most of the occupiers are not Romany or Sinfi people.

They may describe themselves as 'New Age' or anything else – that is for them – but apart from one family known to me, who I believe have moved away, the inhabitants are not Romany.

The site is, of course, a former civic public tip; it is not ideal either for the occupiers or Sully residents.

However, the council has a legal obligation to provide at least one site in the Vale and to remove the present inhabitants and purchase and build facilities on another site would cost a considerable amount in these austere times.

Furthermore, there are few Labour votes in Sully. Consequently, in spite of the anger of residents, by maintaining the status quo, the party will not lose any local authority seats.

All-in-all, the site looks set to stay ad infinitum.

Thomson staff are charity's superheroes!

ON a cold Saturday in December, the Thomson team on Cowbridge High Street held their annual charity day in aid of Cancer Research UK.

This year the theme was 'Superheroes & Villains', but there were no villains among the generous donors, and they managed to raise over £700. A spokeswoman said: "Thank you to everyone who stopped to donate, and for their encouragement."

'BEWARE OF THE APATHY'

WHATEVER one thinks of the Darren Farm development, there should by now be no one in Cowbridge who is not aware that this proposal is likely to be the most important influence on the town for the foreseeable future.

If anyone thinks it is a good idea, just consider the gridlocked town before Christmas – and that is prior to the building of approximately another 400 houses.

Attempts are now under way to circumvent the potentially protective strategic planning and consultation process based on the LDP. The details of this were given in a letter to The GEM four weeks ago from Dr Chris Pearce, revealing an attempt by the developers to shoehorn the plans through outside the Local Development Plan.

Nothing demonstrates better the commercial imperative to drive this plan forward, regardless of the effects on Cowbridge. The lack of response to Dr Pearce's letter suggests that there is still apathy, and lack of awareness that could lead to Darren Farm being concreted over.

The battle is not lost, but if warnings are ignored, it will be too late.

DB Webb,
Llanblethian.

Charity carols!

CONTINUING a tradition begun over 25 years ago, carol singers from Zoar Chapel and St Mary's Church braved the elements on December 12 – 13 to sing around the village.

A very cold evening eventually forced a retreat to the Red Lion, where a few choruses of carols resulted in yet more contributions! On the second night, after the singing was over, the assembled throng were treated to mulled wine and mince pies provided by a local resident.

Together with a contribution of £51 from the Zoar Children's Service, the total amount raised was a fantastic £295.

Ann Roach, of Zoar Chapel, who organised the event would like to thank all those who took part and those who contributed to this very worthwhile cause.

Pupils head to Llangrannog!

A TOTAL of 47 pupils and five brave teachers from Cowbridge Comprehensive School ventured west to the Urdd's Llangrannog camp for five days and what a week we had!

Fun-filled days offered all kinds of activities: we kicked off with an afternoon on the trampolines before heading to practice our Formula One driving skills on the go karts and flying down on toboggans.

Sunday was filled with skiing and a walk to the beach for ice cream, after the first of two Christmas dinners! Pupils (and staff!) enjoyed the climbing wall and some even ventured onto the high ropes course, following fire building and quad biking.

The next day was spent splashing in the pool and horse riding before a boogie in the disco that evening.

The final day sadly arrived and we had to say 'hwyl fawr' to the camp, but if you'd like to hear more from the trip, click onto

Search for the owner of a 'very unwell' Burmese cat

THE RSPCA is urgently seeking the owner of an elderly Burmese/Siamese type cat found at Heol Isaf Hendy, Miskin, Pontyclun by a member of the public on December 17.

RSPCA chief inspector Elaine Spence said: "We are appealing for information regarding this cat, who is very unwell. We are desperate to find her owner. It is a shame that she has not been microchipped. If she had, we would be able to reunite her with her owner almost immediately."

The RSPCA would like to remind people to get their pets microchipped to give their lost pets the chance of returning home.

Anyone with information should contact the RSPCA inspectorate appeal line on 0300 123 8018.

Llanilltud Fawr pupils entertain

STAFF and parents at Llanilltud Fawr Primary School were extremely proud of the year-1 and 2 pupils who performed brilliantly in their play 'Baubles!'.

Mr Potts, the school caretaker, made a set of baubles to remind the children of the real story of Christmas. The Nativity scene was also played out, reminding everyone of the first Christmas.

All pupils sang their hearts out and the actors spoke well.

Nursery and reception children also delighted audiences with their show 'A Night at the Oscars', where aspects of Christmas battled it out for the top prize. The Santas boogied and the trees swayed, but the winning 'Oscar' went to Baby Jesus!

Café members thank supporters

MEMBERS of Llantwit Major Dementia Café who meet in Bethel Baptist Church have thanked Llantwit Major Lions Club for financial support towards its Christmas party.

Their kind gift also means that there is provision for further special gifts and treats available at different times for the café members throughout 2015.

Our gratitude also goes to Mr Hunt at Filco for the boxes of festive biscuits he donated to café members. Thank you, too, to Donna and Sharon in Greggs, who prepared the special sausage rolls that they donated to the café once again.

Our grateful thanks to the manager and community champion in the newly-refurbished Co-op store in Llantwit Major for the donation of vouchers that we were able to exchange for some of the Christmas party food in their store.

Thanks are also extended to the Phoenix group of players who entertained us admirably with their singing and humorous readings and poetry. The café members very much enjoyed singing along to favourite well-known songs.

Our continued gratitude goes to Bethel Baptist Church for their support and kindness towards Dementia café members in enabling us to meet each Tuesday in their comfortable hall and for the use of catering facilities.

CARDIFF AND VALE BOARD REVIEW SAYS 'YES'!

Joy as Ron gets vital anti-cancer drug

Ron was pleased that The GEM was able to highlight his plight and is shown with Vale MP Alun Cairns.

"It's fantastic news... We are so, so pleased"

by TIM CHAPMAN

THE Squires family from Dinas Powys were overjoyed this Christmas after their father Ron was given a vital anti-cancer drug.

The GEM highlighted Ron's plight in its issue on Thursday, December 18.

The family had appealed to Cardiff and Vale University Health board for him to be given 'Axitinib', a drug that interferes in the growth of cancer cells.

On Friday, December 19, The GEM spoke to the family who said the board had given the drug the green light and a supply was already in the house.

Ron's wife Marilyn said she was thrilled.

"It is fantastic news. We can't believe our luck. We are so, so pleased."

Daughter Lynne added: "We got a call from my dad's oncologist to say Cardiff and Vale had approved Axitinib. There had been an urgent review.

"We want to thank everybody who helped in our campaign and the press. Dad is over the moon. We are so grateful for the treatment."

The family have stressed that throughout the ordeal the care given by staff in the NHS has been excellent.

Vale MP Alun Cairns said he was delighted for Ron and the Squires family.

"To have received such good news going into 2015 is very pleasing.

"I am incredibly grateful to the community in Dinas Powys and the wider Vale for coming out in such numbers to support our campaign to see Mr Squires receive such an important drug.

"The local health board has reacted in a positive way to help Ron, but the campaign cannot stop here.

"The support from The GEM played a hugely important role in raising awareness of the problems faced by Mr Squires.

"The case serves to highlight the impact of health policy and the allocation of cancer drugs in Wales, and I will continue to do all I can to help other families facing similar challenges in the Vale."

A spokesman for Cardiff and Vale University Health Board said it was unable to comment on individual cases, but did add: "The Health Board can confirm that it has considered all the evidence in relation to the provision of this medicine.

"We are pleased to confirm that in light of this review it has now approved this medicine for use for appropriate patients during the period while we await the final confirmation of the NICE decision."

CATHEDRAL CANONS' PLACE IN HISTORY

HISTORY was made when Canon Mike Komor was installed as a canon of Llandaff Cathedral – he became the third of three incumbents of one small parish to join the prestigious cathedral chapter.

Canon Komor, a former incumbent of the parish of Ewenny and St Brides Major, joins another former incumbent Canon Mark Preece and the present incumbent, the Venerable Philip Morris, Archdeacon of Margam on the chapter.

"We think this must be unique in the whole Anglican Communion for two former and the present incumbent of a parish to serve together on a cathedral chapter," said Archdeacon Morris. "Ewenny and St Brides Major is only a small rural parish, so it feels very proud to have its clergy honoured in this way."

Canon Komor was Vicar of Ewenny and St Brides Major from 2000 to 2005 before moving to his current post of Rector of Coity, Nolton and Brackla.

Canon Preece was Vicar of Ewenny and St Brides Major from 1992 to 1999. He is currently Rector of Canton and was installed as a canon of the cathedral in April of this year

Archdeacon Morris who was installed as a canon in 2000, took over as Vicar of Ewenny and St Brides Major from Canon Komor in 2005. As members of the cathedral chapter they oversee the running of the cathedral.

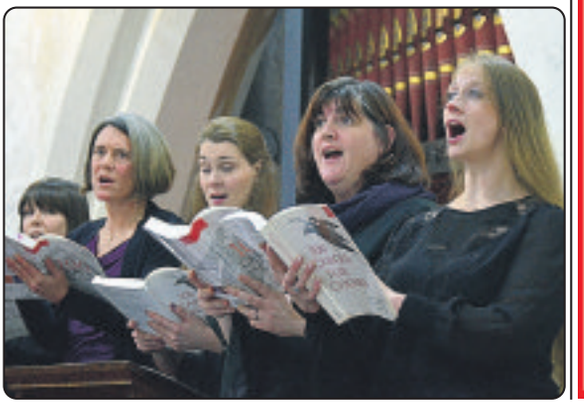
PHOTOGRAPHS by IAN DIXON

LOCAL choir Caritas held a concert of music for Advent and Christmas.

It was held at St Nicholas Church on Sunday, December 14. The choir enthralled a packed church with a programme of classics and carols expertly led by director Lindsay Grey.

More than £1,000 was raised in support of the local charity '2 Wish upon a Star'.

Photographer Ian Dixon was on hand to capture some images of the festive performance.



AM's praise for Scout posties

REGIONAL AM, Andrew RT Davies joined the Cowbridge Scouts on Westgate recently as they finished off delivering the Scouts' Christmas Post.

Despite the rain and driving wind, young Beaver and Scout brothers Gil and Arthur Jones and Cub James Moran helped Andrew deliver important Christmas cards to local residents.

On hand to check that the young Scout members were maintaining the high delivery standard that Cowbridge has come to expect was Dave Weber, who has been the Scout Post organiser for 20 years since its inception, and Beaver Leader Eluned Moran.

Andrew RT Davies, James Moran, Gil and Arthur Jones.

The Cowbridge Group Scout Post has been kindly sponsored for the first ever time by local estate agents Watts & Morgan, thanks in no small part to Matt Jones, the father of Gil and Arthur.

Mr Davies said: "The Scout post is a great Christmas tradition and has contributed much cheer to local residents for many, many years and it is excellent that a successful local business in Watts and Morgan has got on board this year to lend some vital support."

School crossing patrol winners are honoured

Katie Coates, School Crossing Patrol of the Year, receives her award from Coun Lis Burnett and Rob Thomas, Director of Development Services.

Colin Dowd (Penarth), Emma Foden (Barry Island), Rob Thomas, Julie Ellis (St Athan), Vanessa Carlson (Barry), John Rogers and Katie Coates, SCP of the Year, in front.

AT the annual awards presentation organised by the Vale Council's Road Safety team, the top award for School Crossing Patrol of the Year went to Katie Coates, who patrols outside Albert Primary School in Penarth, and has worked in the Vale for over 18 years.

Other awardwinners included Colin Dowd (Penarth, Sully and Dinas Powys area); Julie Ellis (Llantwit Major and the western Rural Vale); and Vanessa Carlson and Scott Jackson (Barry).

Co-ordinators and volunteers of the Kerbcraft child pedestrian training scheme were also thanked for their 13th successful year of working with the council. To date, over 5,000 children in the Vale alone have been trained, and approximately 300 adult volunteers have been recruited.

Winners and guests were treated to a buffet and fun road safety quiz. The Vale Council's Road Safety Officer, John Rogers, thanked everyone for attending the presentation.

He said: "Everyone here has played their part in contributing to road safety over the past year in the Vale."

LIFE-SAVING SESSION

WELSH Hearts are holding a free drop-in CPR and defibrillator training session on Saturday, January 17, and people can attend anytime from 10am-1pm at the Town Hall, High Street, Cowbridge.

A spokeswoman said: "Why not come along to our drop in session – you could help save someone's life one day!

"The course is free and refreshments will be provided. After the session, you will be given a certificate. Children 10 years and above are also very welcome to attend with their parents. You will receive training in vital life-saving skills to deal with emergencies."

Training will be given in CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resusitation), a first aid technique that is a combination of rescue breaths and chest compressions and training on how to use a defibrillator – a life saving machine used to shock a person's heart back into its normal rhythum after a cardiac arrest.

13th annual concert huge hit with Ewenny audience

The Vale of Glamorgan Ensemble.

THE Vale of Glamorgan Ensemble was warmly welcomed back for its 13th annual concert at Ewenny Priory Church.

Ably hosted by double-bassist and Ensemble founder, Peter Fry, the evening was rich with song, story and anecdote.

Performed on the steps of the altar, beneath the impressive glass rood-screen and lit by flickering candlelight, the evening, which had sold out days in advance of the event, was a huge success.

The programme opened with Boyce's Symphony No1 in B flat major, and was followed by excerpts from Handel's Messiah. Llantwit soloist, Charlotte Ellett's performance here was breathtaking, leaving the audience in awe of her vocal range and sheer beauty of interpretation. Vivaldi's Concerto for two violins in A minor concluded the first half.

After an interval, fortified by mince pies and mulled wine, the second half started with the spirited Festive Suite in A major by Telemann, as well as pieces by Purcell, and Handel's Concerto Grosso in D major.

Light-hearted Christmas music concluded, what was roundly agreed to have been, a wonderful evening.

The Vale of Glamorgan Ensemble will return to Ewenny Priory Church, next December for their 14th annual concert as part of Ewenny Arts Festival.

Details of all events, including the forthcoming Ewenny 900 celebrations, will be available on the Ewenny festival website and facebook pages.

The Castaways celebrate Christmas at Castleland

THE Castaways club for older people living in the Vale, enjoyed a three-course Christmas lunch and entertainment, thanks to the generosity of Age Cymru, Barry Town Council and the Castleland Drop-In Centre.

Twenty-ive members of the club, with ages ranging from late 70s to mid-90s, were treated to lunch and a concert of carols and Christmas music. The event was made possible, thanks to grants received from Barry Town Council and Age Cymru, and to the volunteers at the Drop-In centre, who cooked and served the meal and arranged the after dinner entertainment.

A club member said: "We are very lucky to have received such generous support, as we are an independent club, and we rely on fundraising, grants and membership fees to keep going. Thanks to the generosity of our supporters our members had a Christmas lunch to remember."

The Castaways meets every Wednesday and Friday, at the Castleland Centre, for lunch bingo and friendship. New members are always welcome. For more information telephone 01446 734387.

VALE MP's VIEWPOINT

Wonderful news, as the new year promises an economic uplift

Vale MP Alun Cairns reports to GEM readers

2015 HAS arrived with much optimism. The past year has flown by, but so much has happened in Barry and the rural Vale in the past 12 months.

I have a huge amount of optimism for 2015, I have visited dozens of businesses in the past 12 months and I always taken the time to ask how things are at the coal face of the economy.

Businesses large and small all tell me that trade had improved across Barry and the Vale and they expect to be recruiting additional staff in the new year.

This is such wonderful news, and follows a national trend that sees a record number of people in employment in Britain. This is the sort of activity that we need to secure the recovery on a firm footing.

What is most pleasing is the sheer variety of industry in the Vale that is growing – small shops and major employers are recruiting and providing a boost to families at the start of a new year.

January is typically a busy month for those looking for a new career or opportunities, and the employment landscape is looking very healthy as unemployment continues to fall significantly in the Vale of Glamorgan.

In the past 12 months, the Government has made a number of business-friendly announcements – reform of business rates being a welcome significant change.

The reality is that any savings that can be made by business in terms of overheads can be re-invested in wages by recruiting people. A further increase in the personal tax allowance means people can take home more in their own pay packet and re-invest in the local economy.

The regeneration of Barry Island has taken several important steps in the past year – it is long overdue. Private sector investment has a vital role to play in bringing about a positive development on the fairground site. I am very pleased to see progress being made that will result, all being well, in the summer of 2015 seeing a welcome return of a top grade fairground.

I have met with interested parties on numerous occasions with one aim – reviving such a wonderful part of Barry and I will happily meet with anyone that has positive ideas about an area that has such an important role to play in the Vale of Glamorgan.

2015 is going to be the year that sets us off on a sustained period of growth and the continuation of the long-term economic plan. I want to see more jobs being created, businesses booming, and treasured parts of the Vale being revived for the long-term benefit of every local family.

May I take the opportunity to wish readers of The GEM a very happy and healthy 2015.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Branch Manager Phil Powell feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Vale, Bridgend, RCT and Porthcawl areas and Phil is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Phil a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Pub quiz raises £1,000 for appeal...

But Jade (17) needs more funds so she can learn to walk

THE Prince of Wales public house in Coychurch held its Christmas charity quiz and raffle, when a special guest was Jade Owen, who lives in Bridgend with her mum, dad and two younger siblings. Jade was born with Diplegic Cerebral Palsy, and is unable to walk.

After taking an active part in the quiz, the 17-year-old was presented with a cheque for £1,000 towards her fundraising for a life-changing operation she hopes to have next summer.

There is some hope from the centre of world excellence for this condition in St Louis, Missouri, USA. Dr Park performs an operation called Selective Dorsal Rhizotomy (SDR), in which dead nerve endings are cut away from the spine to permit the 'good' nerves to perform more effectively. This improves posture and allows the patients to get their feet flat on the ground which in turn allows them to walk unaided. Jade draws confidence from a young lad in Bridgend who has already had the operation and is now playing football with his friends.

It is not possible to describe the support given to Jade by all her family who are totally dedicated to Jade's dream of being able to walk. The closeness of the family members and their devotion to the cause is unsurpassed.

They all need help in achieving a dream which on the face of it seems impossible, but in reality is attainable.

The list of things to pay for is very long, but includes two operations, airfares for Jade and her parents, a month's stay in the USA, post-care physiotherapy in the UK, and a post-operation follow-up trip to the USA after about six months.

As you can guess this does not come cheap. Jade, and the unending effort of her family, have so far raised about £30,000. At least another £15,000 to £20,000 is required.

Dr Park will see Jade in the UK in about April; the plan is that her operation will be scheduled for June – but this needs the money to be in place.

Anything that anyone can do will be appreciated. If you wish to donate, Google Jade and go to the Tree of Hope website to make a donation.

The Tree of Hope is the registered charity which is looking after the funding for Jade. Your donation will help Jade with her dream and will make you one of her angels.

Photographers' nature snaps win awards

Sheryl Ewe from the Vale of Glamorgan, winner of the 12-18 category.

In the first category, for children aged 11 or under, Jacob Pearce (10) from St Mary's and St Patrick's Primary in Maesteg, Bridgend took first place for his moody photo of a kite being flown on a beach against a cloudy backdrop. The judges were impressed by how the photo captured all the natural elements – water, land and air – to create a dramatic image.

The judges were impressed with Sheryl's use of natural light to create a powerful image.

Second place went to Nathan Pycroft (15) from Ysgol Brynrefail in Gwynedd and third place went to Josephine Foong Hui Wen (18) from Atlantic College, for her explosive photo of a group of friends leaping into the air on a beach.

Vale Photographic Club news

WELCOME to the first of a regular column highlighting the activities of the Vale Photographic Club.

We are a small friendly group who meet every Friday from September to July at 7.15pm in the Ystradowen village hall (starting back January 16).

We aim to arrange a varied and interesting programme to suit all tastes and levels of ability. Events include presentations from guest speakers and our own members, practical sessions, demonstrations, social outings, photographic trips and a number of competitions.

If you were lucky enough to receive a new camera from Santa this year, regardless of ability or type of camera, why not consider joining? Attendance is £2 on the night, with membership open to anyone aged 16 and above. Please note, potential members aged 16-18 will need to be accompanied by a suitable adult.

For those who wish to enter, we hold a number of internal competitions, judged by a guest speaker, with winning entries going on to represent the Vale at national level (don't be put off, this is purely optional!).

A selection of winning entries from our last competition are shown – 'Reflective Moments' by Mike Davies, 'Tears of a Clown' by Bridget 'Craddock and Amber Nectar' by Gareth Williams.

For further information on the club, visit our website at http://www.vale-photographic-club.co.uk, join our Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/groups/ValePhotographicClub/, or simply turn up to a club evening. Whether you're looking to develop your skills as a serious photographer, just starting out with a new camera, or simply looking to take better photographs of the kids, you'll be most welcome.

Pupils help the Big Wrap

Jane Hutt with Big Wrap volunteers and pupils from Ysgol Bro Morgannwg.

THE Vale Foodbank again organised The Big Wrap this year, providing Christmas gifts and food hampers for hundreds of children and their families across the area.

All those who receive gifts donated by the community are referred from agencies in the statutory and voluntary sector.

Vale AM Jane Hutt visited the volunteers, including pupils from Ysgol Bro Morgannwg, to thank them for their hard work and commitment.

New Year's Honours awards for local people

LOCAL people honoured in the New Year's Honours List include the following:

Melville Stanley Evans of Pontyclun received an OBE for services to the NHS in Wales.

Mrs Shirley Rose Davis-Fox of ISA Training, Bridgend, received an MBE for services to the hairdressing industry.

Mrs Judyth Hilary Jenkins, head of nutrition and dietary services in Cardiff and Vale NHS Trust, received an MBE for services to people's health and wellbeing in Wales.

HOSPITALS' DEDICATED VOLUNTEERS HONOURED AT FESTIVE CELEBRATION

THE tireless work of ABMU's army of volunteers was recognised at a special pre-Christmas celebration.

Volunteers provide an invaluable service in hospitals and other centres in Bridgend, Swansea and Neath Port Talbot.

Around 140 of them, representing the almost 500 people now volunteering with the health board, attended the inaugural thank-you event at the Aberavon Beach Hotel in Port Talbot.

ABMU chairman Andrew Davies, who joined the guests on the day, said: "This is our very first thank-you event for the hundreds of volunteers that help us, day in, day out, particularly in our four acute hospitals.

"Our volunteers help patients, their families and their friends through often very difficult times. We hope this is going to be an annual event by which we, as a health board, can say a very big thank you to all our volunteers."

The guests represented volunteering at Morriston, Singleton, Princess of Wales, Neath Port Talbot and Maesteg Hospitals, along with Port Talbot Resource Centre, chaplaincy and ABMU's three palliative care units.

Entertainment included singing performances by Nicky Taliesin and Hannah Rix, fresh from their appearance in White Christmas at Cardiff's New Theatre, and a quiz.

ABMU interim volunteer manager Paul Jones said: "Volunteering is vital to the organisation. We have approaching 500 volunteers at present and those numbers will be increasing as we continue to develop.

"We provide an invaluable service that really does those little extra things that perhaps staff haven't always got the time to do, that volunteers take pride in doing.

"It could be befriending, running errands for patients or just providing a friendly face to sit and chat to. That's the sort of value they bring to the organisation."

Among the guests was Anne-Marie Winslade, who lives in Llantwit Major and started volunteering at Princess of Wales Hospital, where she helps run the information desk, 15 years ago. She said: "The hospital has served my family for quite some years and so it's a way of giving back. I enjoy meeting the public and hopefully make somebody's experience in the hospital a little less stressful.

"It does wonders for your self-esteem when somebody thanks you – and they do that most often."

For Annette Francis, being a maternity ward volunteer in Singleton Hospital is a dream come true.

Annette of Llansamlet started three months ago but enjoys it so much she is now planning to train for a career there.

"It has given me a big chance and I'm very proud and privileged to be given this position," she said.

Annette Francis from Swansea, a maternity volunteer in Singleton Hospital.

Anne-Marie Winslade, who has volunteered at Princess of Wales Hospital for 15 years.

THE TREE FESTIVALS LIGHT UP CHURCHES

Festive trees at the various festivals.

CHURCHES throughout south Wales brightened the run-up to Christmas with hundreds of festive trees.

The 12ft high angel for Alzheimers's tree, crowned by a halo and wings and made up of bunting and wall hangings for the Rhondda Cynon Taff dementia care homes was one of the many trees on display at the Christmas tree festival at Llantrisant Church.

Throughout the year, volunteers and members of the church's Click and Chatter group knitted the decorations that adorn the tree.

The knitted theme continued in Bridgend with a knitters group run by St Mary's Church, Nolton decorating their tree with leaves which will be unpicked and then stitched together to make blankets for the homeless.

Canon Mike Komor, Rector of Coity, Nolton and Brackla with Coychurch, said: "It's the eighth year for our popular five-day Christmas Tree festival and this year we had 52 trees on show.

"Various groups ranging from schools to charities come in and decorate a tree along a particular theme and then each year we choose a different charity to support from the proceeds. This year we supported Bro Morgannwg Baby Loss Group and raised £1,400."

Other events included the Christmas Tree Festival at All Saint's Church, Porthcawl, which had 73 trees on display.

Parish priest Father Craig Vaughan said: "The festival was run in conjunction with Rotary Porthcawl and raised around £1,250 – with the money split between the parish and the Rotary's charities.

"As the amount of money raised shows, it was very successful and deepened the links we have in this parish with local community organisations and the schools."

Jolie's Unbroken is an incredible story, but is predictably played out...

ACTORS who turn to the director's chair generally manage to be reasonably successful; running across the ages, the likes of Clint Eastwood, Ben Affleck and Jon Favreau have all achieved acclaim behind the camera.

However, few actresses make the jump, with Angelina Jolie putting her director's hat on with Unbroken.

This true-life World War Two-set story tells of Louis Zamperini (Jack O'Connell), an Olympian who finds himself downed in the ocean when a flight goes wrong, leaving him to survive with his crew in the water for 47 days.

However, when Zamperini is rescued, it's by the Japanese navy and he is taken to a prisoner of war camp where his life is made a living hell, particularly by a sadistic sergeant known as 'the Bird' (Takamasa Ishihara)...

At this time of year, true-life stories are ten-a-penny in cinemas, no doubt in part due to the appealing nature of them in relation to the awards season (having accounted for three of the past four best picture winners at the Academy Awards).

What sets Unbroken apart is the sheer incredible nature of the story, how a man went from being an Olympian to being pushed to the very end of his tether – you can be pretty sure that Zamperini's nickname wasn't 'Lucky Louis'!

Considering this is Angelina Jolie's second effort behind the camera (her first, In the Land of Blood and Honey, didn't find a home on these shores) it's a story crafted with an incredible eye for the visual, and also sees Jolie marshall excellent performances from the cast. However, despite the nature of the story, it all feels a little too predictable and very rarely does it take you by surprise.

What does surprise is just how composed and well versed Jolie is considering this is her sophomore effort. Opening with a gorgeous sunrise peppered with bombers heading out on a mission, the film never fails to look wonderful, whether it's the open stretch of sea Zamperini and company find themselves stranded in, or the cruel, austere brutality of the prisoner of war camp.

Jolie manages to couple this with a script (that involves, oddly enough, the Coen brothers) that burns slowly and captures the key points of Zamperini's life – his Olympic running, the time he spent at sea and the time in the POW camp – but doesn't really shade in the spaces around him.

One development, which receives its pay-off in the closing crawl that these films are seemingly contractually obligated to provide, would have made for an intriguing postscript to the story on screen rather than simply explained away in text.

As such, while the tale is one that you would be hard-pressed to create as a work of fiction, it ultimately comes off feeling as though it's been filtered through a checklist for these grandstanding biopics, the faint aroma of those that have gone before (the likes of Mandela are evoked by the prison scenes, for example) lingering long after the credits have rolled.

If 2014 was a breakout year for Jack O'Connell, then the actor hasn't started the new one off sluggishly at all on the basis of this turn. If Starred Up and '71 showed an actor with an incredible slow-burning intensity (and a predilection towards masochism, given how roughed-up he is in those two films), then Unbroken continues that trend; he holds the film well, and the only drawback is the lack of depth the script gives him.

The rest of the cast isn't short on quality but don't get much in terms of screen time, with Takamasa Ishihara's cold-blooded sergeant grabbing the majority of it with a performance that is chilling in its execution but again struggles to break free from the lack of dimension afforded by the screenplay.

It's the script's lack of depth and inability to wholly shake off the shackles of cliché that affect Unbroken, because outside that it is a very impressive film indeed; but with a screenplay weighed down by these faults it becomes purely a very good one.

VERDICT – As impressive as Angelina Jolie's second directorial effort is, and coupled with a superb lead performance from ever-developing Jack O'Connell, ultimately Unbroken is broken by a feeling of the all-too-familiar. However the incredible nature of such an amazing story will keep you captivated. Enjoyable.

Film will relate the Welsh Guards' story

A NEW Ogmore-based company, Centennial Film has marked the centenary of the Welsh Guards with an imaginative project.

The Heart of the Dragon – the Welsh Guards Story is a cinema documentary that tells the story of this world-famous regiment, whose Colonel is Prince Charles.

It is privately financed by investors from Xénos, the Wales Business Angels Network – and by former members of the Welsh Guards.

The 90-minute film will relate the story of the regiment from its birth in the Great War – while still catching its centenary events on St David's Day 2015.

The Welsh Guards at 'Trooping of the Colour'.

Viewers will learn of the Welsh Guards' heroic actions in two world wars and in Aden, Northern Ireland, the Falklands and, more recently, Afghanistan.

Set against a Welsh backdrop, the film will have a haunting soundtrack that reveals how successions of Welsh Guardsmen made their native music integral to life in the regiment.

The film will be released soon after VE Day 2015, opening in cinemas in Wales before it is shown on TV and released on DVD. Xénos is part of the Finance Wales Group, one of the UK's largest SME investors. The group has invested over £353 million through more than 3,425 investments and manages funds in access of £400 million.

YOUR CHANCE TO JOIN NEW DANCE COMPANY

THE Vale Council's arts development department has created 'aDvance Dance', a contemporary dance company for young people aged 14 -18, by working together with arts teams in other local authority areas and National Youth Dance Wales.

Now in its second year, auditions are fast approaching for young people to take advantage of this fantastic opportunity to study contemporary dance with internationally renowned dance professionals.

Auditions are being held on January 10 at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama, Cardiff.

The three-hour audition will include a contemporary technique class, a ballet class and a short presentation for dancers, parents and dance-leaders about the aDvance programme.

Coun Gwyn John, cabinet member for arts and culture, said: "This project is part of our collaboration with 'Arts Connect' a partnership between five local authority areas. Here in the Vale we promote health and wellbeing through the arts development services.

"This dance opportunity is a great way for young people to get fit and healthy while enjoying classes taught by professional dancers. It's also an opportunity to learn new dance moves and enhance your skills to further forward your education and career."

If you are aged between 14-18, are already dancing on a regular basis, live in the Vale, Bridgend, Merthyr, Blaenau Gwent, Torfaen, Caerphilly or Rhondda Cynon Taf, and you are able to give one Saturday a month to aDvance your dance skills, then get in touch and register your interest by telephoning NYDW on 029 2026 5060 or emailing nyaw@nyaw.co.uk with 'aDvance' in the subject line.

You need to provide your name, age, date of birth, telephone number and your dance school, organisation or group.

Confirmation about your audition place and further details will be sent once you have registered.

If you want further information about the dance training course please contact the Arts Development team on 01446 709805 or any of the other arts development services in the local authority areas listed.

FESTIVE CELEBRATION AS 78 OAPs TAKE A TRIP DOWN MEMORY LANE AT WENVOE

A TOTAL of 78 pensioners gathered for a Christmas party in Mary Immaculate High School, Wenvoe and enjoyed singing, dancing, food, and a visit from Santa, plus a trip down memory lane.

"We would like to thank all the companies who donated to the school and the staff and pupils for all their hard work," a spokeswoman said.

Flights doubled from Cardiff to Lanzarote

THOMSON and First Choice have announced that in winter 2015/16 they will be introducing a second weekly flight to Lanzarote from Cardiff Airport.

The move is part of the leading holiday company's strategy to ensure customers across the UK can fly from their local airport and stay at the best hotels in some of the most exciting destinations, they stated.

"The additional capacity to Lanzarote is also part of being able to offer customers more flexibility, such as the opportunity to take advantage of varying durations – not just the standard seven and 14 night stays.

"Customers from Cardiff will now have even easier access to some of Thomson and First Choice's most popular flagship hotels on the island, such as Thomson Couples Hotel H10 Timanfaya Palace and Thomson Platinum Hotel Natura Palace," said Karen Switzer, Director of Aviation Planning for Thomson and First Choice.

"Lanzarote is a really popular destination for our customers almost all year round, so it is great to offer the additional capacity from Cardiff Airport. We know that flying from your local airport is really valued by our customers and is part of our strategy to enhance their overall holiday experience."

Spencer Birns, Aviation Business Development Director at Cardiff Airport said: "We are really pleased with Thomson and First Choice's decision to add extra capacity to Lanzarote next winter. There is big demand in Wales for the Canary Islands and now our customers are being offered more travel options to popular holiday destinations from Cardiff Airport."

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS FOR EU FUNDING – but hard choices remain

THE Christmas season provides an opportunity to reflect on the past year and prepare for the next with the help of family and friends, sharing time away from the political fray.

This Christmas has been no exception, with the added benefit of spending time at many candlelit concerts and services across the Vale of Glamorgan over the past few weeks – from Ewenny Priory to St Mary's and All Saints Churches in Barry – as well as memorable concerts and walks in the Vale; all providing thinking time and time to reflect

The walks have mainly been in the sunshine, following a number of footpaths and guides, including the Wales Coast Path, Valeways, Barry Heart Walk and the new Vale Trails supported by Creative Rural Communities as part of the Rural Development Plan. The 'Haunted Field Walk' from St Nicholas Church to Tinkinswood and St Lythans Burial Chambers via Dyffryn Gardens was wonderful on Christmas Eve.

As the Vale Trail guide reminds us, these neolithic tombs were built almost 6,000 years ago. Reflecting on this can put our present daily worries and strains into perspective.

Barry island was also lit with sunshine on Christmas Day with children enjoying the magnificent new climbing wall and admiring the new beach huts as we walked over to Jacksons Bay.

Despite the rain, our Valeways Walk from Cowbridge through Llanblethian and over to Llandough, Llanfair St Mary Church and St Hilary on Boxing Day, helped blow away the cobwebs.

One of the many events I enjoyed before Christmas was the celebration of the work of Creative Rural Communities which was held in Llantwit Major, to present and promote many of the initiatives funded over a six-year £7.7m programme of investment, with European Union and Welsh Government finance, supported by the Vale of Glamorgan Council.

Congratulations to local farmer Norman Jenkins and Mandy Davies of the Vale of Glamorgan Tourist Association, who chaired the Vale of Glamorgan Rural Partnership and Local Action Group, steering this investment through so successfully, and benefiting the private, voluntary and public sectors in the rural Vale. See www.creativeruralcommunities.co.uk for more information.

I realise very clearly that there will be new opportunities in the New Year for the further regeneration of Barry and the rural Vale with European Union investment, matched by Welsh Government funding, but these opportunities will only come about if we make difficult choices with our reducing budgets.

The Chancellor's Autumn Statement fell flat when it emerged he was planning more draconian cuts to our public finances, already stripped back by 9 per cent over the past five years.

For too many this Christmas, the Vale Foodbank and Big Wrap volunteers have provided the food, as well as the presents for children and families with low incomes.

To provide for investment in skills for better paid jobs with good transport links and decent housing, is our goal as a Welsh Government, alongside continued and increased support for the NHS.

Viewing the new Newydd housing scheme in Thompson Street, partly financed with Welsh Government Social Housing Grant, was a great thrill before Christmas after the first tenants moved in on November 24.

It was equally exciting to meet the new residents of Golau Garedig located in the heart of Barry, who were settling in to their new homes in this £7m Welsh Government funded Extra Care facility.

Our investment in the Metro will help achieve better transport links, attracting European funding alongside other major cities in the UK and Europe. This is a priority for our Wales' Infrastructure Investment Plan and locally I am keen to see enhanced services on the Vale line from Barry to Bridgend for commuters, as well as for passengers to Cardiff Airport

There is so much we can do together in Wales, working with the public, private and voluntary sector, listening to and respecting each other, making decisions about what is essential for the economy and for social justice to support the vulnerable and to give everyone a chance.

Happy New Year.

Super mum Donatella gives birth to 11 kittens!

Tabby Donatella astounded staff at Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre after she went into labour in December and produced her bumper brood.

Although one was sadly stillborn, the 10 remaining kittens and their mother all appeared in good health after a five-hour labour.

Donatella, thought to be aged around one-year-old, was handed into the charity just a week earlier after a householder who had been feeding her noticed she was heavily pregnant. Cats usually give birth to an average of three to six kittens, with larger litters normally resulting in a higher mortality rate.

The world's largest litter was born in 1970 when a Burmese/Siamese cat gave birth to 19 kittens, four of which were stillborn.

Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre Manager Sue Dobbs said: "I've never seen this many kittens in one litter my 16 years at the centre. We just couldn't believe our eyes as they kept coming.

"Donatella is a tiny cat, and having been a stray she is also very underweight. I thought she may have five or six, but I wouldn't have been surprised if she had lost some of them considering her poor condition. So to have this many surviving kittens is incredible.

"Despite all she's been through she is an amazing mum, she's been very calm and attentive to all her babies.

"At the moment we're going to give her the chance to raise them all, but we'll be keeping a close eye on her and monitoring their growth rates and we expect we may need to help by bottle-feeding some of the kittens. The main challenge at the outset was to ensure all of them got some of the vital first milk from their mother to help their immune systems.

"All being well, Donatella and her kittens will be ready for new homes from February next year."

Cats Protection's Clinical Veterinary Officer Beth Skillings said it was rare for such a large number to be born alive.

"It's hard not to find Donatella's story heart-warming, especially at this time of year. But it's important to remember this is not a fairytale – Donatella was a stray who has been through quite an ordeal to carry and give birth to so many kittens.

"She is lucky that someone noticed her and handed her into us as it is likely that many more of her kittens would have perished otherwise.

"Of course the kittens are adorable, but Donatella's story does show why it is so important cats are neutered. She would have had a tough life as an un-neutered stray, and if they had survived being born on the streets, her kittens would have faced a similar plight."

With so many new kittens, the charity is appealing to the public to come up with names for them via its Facebook page. Cat lovers can make their suggestions by visiting www.facebook.com/catsprotection.

CONCERT EVOKES TIMELESS SPIRIT OF JOY AT CHRISTMAS

The choir with the Mayor of Barry, Coun Jeff Evans and the Mayor of the Vale, Coun Howard Hamilton.

THE annual carol concert of Barry Male Voice Choir at St Mary's Church, Barry, brought an appropriate start to the town's Christmas celebrations.

A sense of wonder and joy which filled the church was created by the choir, the RAF St Athan Voluntary Band and Cor Ysgol St Baruc. The depth of sound was further enhanced by the tuneful singing of the large enthusiastic congregation.

Congratulations are to be offered to musical directors Dorothy Connell, Alan Bourne, Delwyn Williams and accompanist Emma Arscott for their contributions to the timeless reminder of the spirit of Christmas.

This year's fundraising concert was in aid of Amelia Trust, which provides valuable support for disadvantaged youth. GJ

Gold medal gymnast Frankie stars at the Ty Hafan panto!

Commonwealth Games gold medallist Frankie Jones brought the energy of the worldwide gymnastics stage to Tŷ Hafan Children's Hospice, when she stopped by to join in with its annual Christmas pantomime.

The rhythmic gymnastics star, who represented Wales at three successive Commonwealth Games, dropped by to take part in its Disney-themed pantomime as part of the hospice's 'Precious Moments' campaign.

The 24-year-old from Cardiff ended her gymnastics career on a high earlier this year after claiming Wales' first gold medal of the 2014 Commonwealth Games in the rhythmic gymnastics discipline.

Now the Commonwealth medallist is calling on the public to contribute towards creating more special moments for children, especially during the festive season, after taking time out from her busy schedule to support Tŷ Hafan this Christmas.

Frankie said: "The work that Tŷ Hafan does is so important that I was more than delighted to have been able to help out here today, and had a great time meeting the children and their families too.

"Tŷ Hafan does the most remarkable job to ensure these families are able to celebrate Christmas with the care and the support that they need, and I'd urge anyone thinking about supporting a charity this Christmas to bear them in mind."

Having now retired from the sport, Frankie has just been appointed athlete adviser to the Commonwealth Games Wales board until 2018, in a role where she will offer advice on how Welsh athletes can succeed at the Gold Coast Games in four years' time.

Frankie Jones with Santa and Noah Hopson.

Meanwhile, Tŷ Hafan wants people to talk about their own 'precious moments' through social media to help continue providing support for life-limited children across South Wales in 2015.

Jenna Lewis, head of individual giving at Tŷ Hafan, said: "Life is all about those precious moments so we want people to think about their own most special memories and share them online.

"The support that Tŷ Hafan provides extends further than our hospice and is delivered in the family home, at hospital and in schools across Wales.

"Our hope is that the public will support our Christmas appeal so we can continue providing families with precious moments which they can cherish forever."

It costs £3.7m a year to provide the charity's state-of-the-art facilities at Sully and its support services to families out in the community.

An individual donation of £23 would provide an hour of care and support to a child and his or her family, but the charity is urging people to donate what they feel able as the whole operation depends on the generosity of the public.

To make a donation, go to www.tyhafan.org/precious.

'Law now on side of guide dogs' says the Ogmore MP

OGMORE MP Huw Irranca-Davies was thanked by national charity, Guide Dogs, for his work in helping change the law to protect guide dogs from attacks by other dogs.

After a long campaign, thanks to the strong personal support of shadow Defra Minister Huw Irranca-Davies and other Members of Parliament, Guide Dogs succeeded in convincing the UK Government to amend the Dangerous Dogs Act.

The changes create sentences for irresponsible owners who allow their dogs to attack a guide dog. The law now considers an attack on an assistance dog to be aggravated assault. This will help protect assistant dogs and their owners

In Wales there are 252 guide dog owners. The new law will allow them to keep the dogs they rely on for an independent life safe from attack.

From this year, any attack on an assistant dog by another dog carries a maximum sentence of three years in prison for the owner.

Guide Dogs campaigns' manager James White said his organisation was very grateful for all the support given by Mr Irranca-Davies in getting the law changed.

Mr Irranca-Davies said: "For many people in Wales and the rest of the UK, an assistant dog is the only way they can lead an independent life. They should have the peace of mind that their dog will be safe from attack. The change in law will really help make this the case. For the 252 guide dog owners in Wales, the law is now on their side."

THE new year is a good time to think about gaining some new skills and build your confidence for a new start!

The Vale Adult and Community Learning have a range of free courses for anyone who is not currently in education, employment or training, in receipt of benefits or looking to improve their skills for the workplace.

For anyone who is a job seeker or thinking of going back to work, there are drop-in workshops and short courses to help you with using the Internet for job search and applications, creating CVs, interview skills and skills for the workplace.

There are also plenty of computer workshops spread throughout the Vale with the chance to brush up your ICT skills and gain some recognised qualifications.

Courses to help you get that job include workwise retail and customer service, British sign language and lip reading.

Perhaps you are thinking about returning to learning, but are still not sure what you would like to do: a range of First Steps courses is available for confidence and assertiveness, crafts, textiles and sewing machine skills, woodwork and furniture restoration. The courses will give you the opportunity to try new skills, build your confidence and help you decide what you want to do next.

Reading, writing, maths and computers can help you get on in work and life in general. If you want to improve your skills, or don't have any qualifications, then this is the place to start.

You can start at any time and work at your own pace during the day or the evening. There is also a range of English classes (ESOL) for speakers of other languages.

A free crèche is available at some centres. To find out more and book a place on a course, contact Palmerston centre on 01446 733762;

THE HORSE WHO CAME TO LUNCH...

THE Fari Lwyd visited Cowbridge Community College recently for a Welsh-medium lunchtime lecture, accompanied by a group of local men who sang verses at the door in a re-enactment of the old Glamorgan tradition.

Learners enjoyed a soup lunch and an entertaining lecture by Dr Siwan Rosser of Cardiff University, and the horse's Sergeant and men were rewarded with fine cake, and tea in lieu of ale!

This was the second in a series of six lectures to be held in Welsh, provided by Cardiff and Vale of Glamorgan Adult Learning Partnership. The next, on January 16, will be given by Ffion Reynolds, on the topic of Tinkinswood and Llwyneliddon.

GEM Readers' Letters Extra

Waiting times for operations

I HAVE read Mr Hopkins' recent letter regarding NHS waiting times and I could not agree more. I also read Caroline Scott's letter, which outlined her experience; the way she was treated was shameful to say the least.

I have now, at last, had a reply from Mark Drakeford AM, regarding hip/knee replacement surgery.

He states that 86 per cent of patients in Wales undergo surgery within 26 weeks. He also states that the median waiting time for 50 per cent of patients is up to 15 weeks. However, he uses the word 'treatment', not surgery.

I had a consultation with an orthopaedic surgeon on December 17 regarding a hip replacement. He informed me that the best waiting time he could offer me was 36 weeks at the Royal Glamorgan Hospital.

I have asked Mark Drakeford to let me know how many patients in Wales have had hip/knee replacements in the 26 and 15 week envelopes; also the hospitals where these target times have been achieved.

To start with, the Royal Glamorgan Hospital does not – and judging by Mr Hopkins' experience, the Princess of Wales certainly does not.

He must have this information at hand, otherwise he could not have possibly arrived at the figures he has quoted.

J G Morgan, Pontyclun.

'Princess of Wales staff were excellent'

I HAVE recently been treated at the Princess of Wales hospital in three different departments – audiology, opthalmology and the scan unit.

I cannot fault the treatment I had. The staff were all caring, polite and professional.

I am very slow and elderly, but there was no trying to rush me.

Many thanks to all the staff involved.

Mrs R Guy, Llantwit Major

Coast is 'eyesore'

THE south Vale coast has become an eyesore to behold. Solar farms now clutter up the once beautiful countryside, slurry pits adorn the once unspoiled and protected Heritage Coast and there has been a year of delays due to roadworks under a sewerage pipe.

Let's not have another year of short-term financial gain for the planning people; things are starting to look ugly out there.

Barrier needed to safeguard children

I HAVE been made aware of a possible health and safety situation that could result in a fatality or serious injury to an infant.

On Barry Island, at Amherst Crescent, it would appear thet Vale Council has very kindly decided to refurbish the children's play area in the vicinity of Barry Island Primary School.

Whilst the refurbishment is way above standard and a credit to the local authority, it would seem that certain safety issues have been left as an afterthought. The facility has a safety barrier/fence around the perimeter of this play area.

Its very close proximity to the adjacent roadway can be considered a safety hazard, and I fear it will not be very long before a little child runs off and into the path of a motor car.

I call upon the council to install a safety barrier around this facility to guarantee the safety of children.

GEM readers' donations will help care for dogs like Gabbi

by GEM REPORTER

GEM readers responded to the Christmas animal rescues appeal with customary generosity.

Joanne Eveleigh, the organiser, said: "I would like to say a huge 'thank you' to everyone who donated items for dog rescues in Wales.

"We have had a great response and would like everyone to know that the items collected are being distributed.

"The blankets, beds, treats, food, leads, collars, coats and other items will be of great help to the 'rescues' this Christmas and New Year as they are full to capacity. I will ensure personally that they are delivered to rescues in Wales."

UK German Shepherd Rescue is just one of the rescues in Wales to benefit. Readers' donations will help the likes of 'Gabbi' – whose full name is Gabriel – who was tied to a tree and abandoned.

Joanne said: "He was left to fend for himself. His hair was matted and had to be shaved off.

"He should be enjoying his life, running round in a loving family home. Instead, he is petrified of the outside world and every step for him outside is a huge achievement.

"He is scared of his own shadow. When he was shaved recently, there were large puncture wounds found in his neck, these are quite deep and nasty.

"He is just one of thousands of dogs that get dumped every day for no reason.

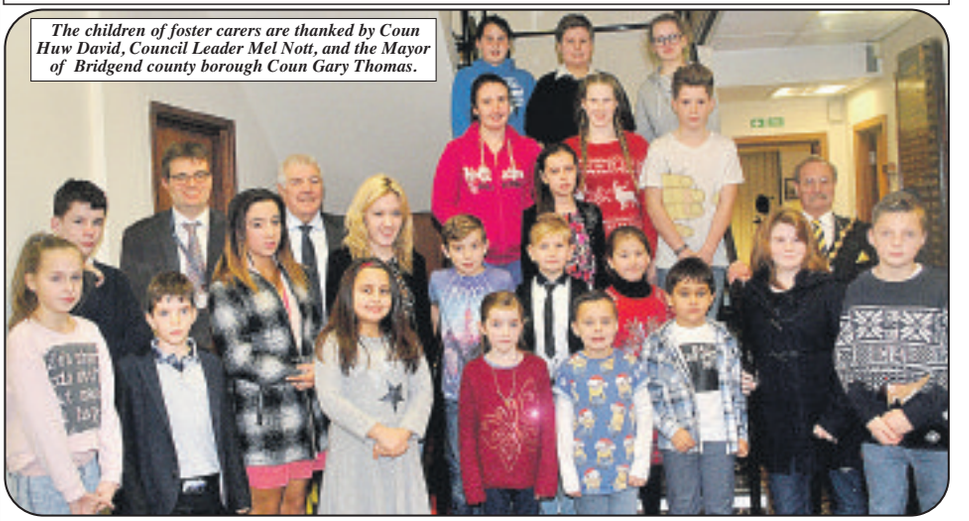
"We will never know the extent of this poor boy's life and injuries, but he needs a home with a loving family."

Particular thanks went to Joanna O'Sullivan of Rhoose and Charlotte Attwell of Barry, who organised major contributions.

For further information on Gabbi, or any other German Shepherd dogs, volunteering/fundraising or fostering/adoptin, contact UK GSR (UK German Shepherd Rescue) www.ukgermanshepherdrescue.co.uk or contact Suzanne on 01925 634699 / 07789 881850.

Gabbi is one of the mistreated animals being helped thanks to readers' generosity.

Children of foster carers take centre stage at presentation



The children of foster carers are thanked by Coun Huw David, Council Leader Mel Nott, and the Mayor of Bridgend county borough Coun Gary Thomas.

THE children of foster carers in Bridgend county borough have been thanked for their contribution to fostering.

A BCBC spokeswoman explained: "Fostering is not just a decision for adults but for the whole family. When a family decides to foster, children have to share their homes, toys, and above all, their parents' time and attention with the looked-after children. In addition they have to deal with sometimes difficult and challenging behaviour.

"However, the majority of children thrive as part of a fostering family and actively contribute by offering support and being a positive role model to fostered children. Sons and daughters help to make foster placements a success."

Their role was recognised at an event hosted by the Mayor of Bridgend county borough at the Civic Offices in Bridgend. The mayor, Coun Gary Thomas, said: "It gave me great pleasure to host this event for the foster carers' birth children as they are often the unsung heroes.

"Fostering is a big change for everyone and affects the whole household so we believe the sons and daughters deserve to be recognised and feel valued for the selfless role they play, which is why a celebratory event was held for them. They truly are a credit to both their families and communities."

The mayor presented the children with a copy of the Dylan's Story leaflet – which the sons and daughters helped to create by drawing on their own experiences – along with a selection box.

The event was also attended by council Leader, Mel Nott and Coun Huw David.

Commissioner's praise for older people's projects

THE Older People's Commissioner for Wales has praised work going on across the Vale to support older people in the area.

Over the past year, the commissioner, Sarah Rochira, and her team have met hundreds of people as part of the commissioner's engagement roadshow, a series of visits to learn about inspirational projects and initiatives.

One of the visits was to the Vale's Senior Health Shop on Holton Road, Barry, which welcomes 300 people every week to its community café, where they are able to take part in activities such as knitting and exercise, receive advice on caring, different illnesses and access to benefits, as well as benefiting from health services such as toe nail cutting.

The initiative is made possible by around 21 volunteers who give a combined total of 80 hours every week and offer a wide variety of information and advice.

Between July and September alone, they helped with 72 enquiries, relating to things like blue badges, cancer, tax, home adaptations and residential care.

TRANSFORMATION

On other visits, the commissioner's team found out about projects aimed at getting older people online. Communities First Barry hold classes in the town three times a week and have helped over a hundred people, some of them older people, who are learning how to order shopping or take part in internet forum discussions about their favourite football teams.

The commissioner's team also visited Oak Court on Myrtle Road, Penarth, where social landlord Wales and West Housing helps tenants to enhance and maintain the grounds.

A group of residents began the transformation by clearing the overgrown garden and cutting the lawn, before adding flower beds and growing produce, such as runner beans and tomatoes, in a greenhouse they erected.

The residents have now extended a patio area and their work has helped create a wonderful social area that older people can enjoy.

REGULAR VISITORS

The commissioner's team are also regular visitors to meetings of the Penarth Ageing Well Club, which is a prominent local voice and meets weekly to discuss issues affecting older people from the area.

Sarah Rochira said: "My team and I have spent a lot of time in the Vale over the last year and have been incredibly impressed with much of the work happening to make the area a better place to grow older.

"As well as many organisations and forums that are empowering older people to get involved in the decision-making process, there are many charities and voluntary groups offering support ranging from emotional to help getting online or starting new activities."

Young Farmers Club members sharpen up their verbal skills!

MAENDY Young Farmers Club members worked hard in rehearsal for the Glamorgan YFC public speaking competitions, and it certainly paid off.

The first competition on December 7 at Pendoylan Primary School, proved a successful day for the club.

The junior reading team, made up of under-14 members Evan Thomas, Oliver Popham and Keira Atyeo-Canter, took first place. Evan and Oliver were also selected for the county team.

Two junior public speaking teams represented the club. The winning team consisted of Emma Popham, Lauren David and Ellie Howes, while the second team were placed a very commendable fourth.

Club chairman, Heather Jarvis and vice chairman Kate Thomas competed in the 'senior member of the year' event, achieving fifth and 10th place respectively.

The last competition of the day was intermediate brainstrust, a panel discussion where members debate three topics of recent news against the clock. The team consisted of Jack Clothier as chairman with Rob David, Mathew Davies and George Thomas as panellists. The team was placed third on the day, with George Thomas selected for the county team.

The second competition day took place on December 14 at Neath Conservative Club. The five-strong senior after-dinner speaking team took first place in the competition, and team members Heather Jarvis, Ieuan Rosser and Tom Rees were selected for the county team at the Wales YFC competition in March.

Members also took part in the 'call my bluff' competition, with one of the teams finishing in joint third place.

A big thank you goes to all club trainers – Hannah Lewis, Becky Harry, Natalie Lewis and club president Richard Western for all their hard work and guidance.

The focus then turned to the festive season. Members enjoyed a Christmas jumper-themed meal at The Red Fox, Penllyn, on December 8.

School's Santa appeal is a hit

I WOULD like to let GEM readers know about the very successful festive fundraising efforts of students at Brynteg Comprehensive School.

This year's Santa appeal raised £4,778.14, and it enabled the school to buy Christmas presents for 200 children in the county borough.

A donation was also made to the Women's Refuge of £275.

The school wishes to thank Apsee's Removal Company for their continued support in picking up and delivering the Santa sacks.

On Friday, December 12, Brynteg staff donned their Christmas sweaters for 'National Christmas Jumper Day' and raised a further £148, which was sent to the Save the Children Fund.

'Beware rogue traders', county council warns

RESIDENTS of Bridgend county borough are urged to be wary of rogue traders who may view this as an ideal time to dupe vulnerable homeowners.

BCBC has warned that at this time of year, cold callers often turn up uninvited at people's homes to offer attractive packages, such as heating deals or cheap insulation.

Residents are being urged to turn cold callers away if they have not made an appointment, or seem to be using pressure tactics to sell goods or services.

The Leader of Bridgend County Borough Council, Coun Mel Nott, said: "The majority of doorstep callers are genuine, but unfortunately there are also some unscrupulous individuals out there and it is important for residents to be on their guard."

To report incidents of rogue trading, call South Wales Police on 101 or Citizens' Advice Consumer Service on 03454 04 05 06.

For more information on how Bridgend County Borough Council's Trading Standards Service can help businesses, call 01656 643478 or email tradingstandards@bridgend.gov.uk.

Cancer patients are thanked

MACMILLAN Cancer Support in Wales would like to thank all of those cancer patients who took the time to respond to the Wales cancer patients' experience survey and enabled us to capture the voice of the patient.

This is the first time in the UK that detailed analysis of comments made by cancer patients about their treatment and care has been conducted.

It provides us with a powerful insight and richer understanding of the patient experience of cancer care in Wales.

Cancer patients had concerns around initial identification of symptoms, staff shortages and the provision of too little information and support.

But there were also high levels of satisfaction expressed around surgery, chemotherapy and radiotherapy and praise for specialist nurses.

Macmillan has responded to the results of this cancer patients' experience survey by calling on the Welsh Government to ensure the promises made in its Cancer Delivery Plan for Wales are fully implemented.

Cancer is the toughest fight most of us will ever face – but you don't have to go through it alone – the Macmillan team is here for you every step of the way.

So call us free on 0808 808 0000 or visit macmillan.org.uk

BCBC 'considers its options' after court quashes school closure

VILLAGERS in Llangeinor have had their best ever Christmas present – news that the High Court has quashed the decision taken by Bridgend county borough council to close their village school.

Campaigners battling to retain Tynyrheol Primary School took their fight to the High Court, calling for a judicial review of the decision. They won the argument with the court ruling that BCBC's decision taken last April to close Tynyrheol and move pupils to a new school at Betws, which would also replace Betws Primary School, should be quashed. However, the council has the right to appeal.

Welsh Conservative Regional AMs Byron Davies and Suzy Davies, who both met campaigners and backed the fight, have welcomed this decision.

Byron Davies said: "The council acted in a very high handed and arrogant way towards villagers. There was an assumption on the part of the council that the decision was cut and dried and they paid very little heed at all to what people were saying.

"The council also failed to consult with the regional AMs for the area, including myself and Suzy Davies, despite the fact that we have a statutory right to be consulted. We were all elected – not just the constituency AM for Ogmore.

"As the Welsh Assembly has now been in existence for 15 years, it's inexcusable for officers to claim they did not know we should be consulted. The judge was very scathing in his comments about this failure on the part of the council.

"There are people all over Bridgend complaining about the way the council handles consultations, claiming that it tries to bulldoze its decisions through. So, well done to the people of Llangeinor for standing in the path of this bulldozer and throwing a spanner into its works."

Suzy Davies said: "BCBC failed to follow proper procedures when it took the decision to close this school. Its consultation procedures were fatally flawed and it failed to provide the substantive evidence it needed to justify closing down Tynyrheol.

"The council must urgently review all its consultation processes as failure to adhere to the Schools Code laid down by Welsh Government could cost the council taxpayers dearly because the council has been ordered to foot the bill for these proceedings.

"My warmest congratulations to the campaigners whose determination to see fair play had illuminated the council's slovenly approach to such an important matter."

A spokesperson for BCBCsaid this week: "Bridgend county borough council was the first local authority to attempt to undertake a school closure under the Welsh Government's new school organisational code.

"The outcome has provided clarity over a number of issues and we will be applying the knowledge gained from this process as we consider our options in light of the decision.

Valeways honour their 'passionate' volunteer

Alan's plaque is fixed to the stile.

VALEWAYS volunteers and members of Alan Wilson's family met recently to dedicate a stile with a brass plaque, at St Mary Church, to mark the contribution that Alan's volunteering has made to the Vale countryside.

The charity Valeways was formed in 1996 and shortly afterwards Alan became a volunteer. In the early days it was nearly all physical work clearing public rights of way which had been sadly neglected over the years, but from there the charity progressed to designing circular walks and producing high quality walk leaflets with route instructions and places of interest en route.

Alan was a major contributor especially with the church, college and lighthouse in the Llantwit Major area, the Six Village Walk around Cowbridge, Castle-upon-Alun and Ogmore routes and the Valeways Millennium Heritage Trail which is now a UK national trail.

A trustee for many years and a walk leader for 12 years, he opened up the Vale countryside to explore many unknown trails for a whole new generation of walkers. Alan was not well enough to attend the ceremony, but I am sure he will be delighted that Valeways volunteering has managed to survive these difficult financial times.

There must be more 'Alans' out there who would like to do their bit to preserve the Vale's wonderful footpath network, whatever theirinterest and ability. Please contact Rebecca, our volunteer co-ordinator, at : Rebecca@valeways.org.uk or call the Valeways office on 01446 749000 from Monday, January 5.

Happy New Year to all Valeways volunteers and walkers; may you all continue to enjoy the Vale countryside and coast.

COWBRIDGE was a sea of activity and colour on Boxing Day when the Glamorgan Hunt had its traditional gathering.

As you can see from Mike Wilcock's pictorial record of the occasion despite the teeming rain, the riders, horses, hounds and spectators all turned up, making the day a real spectacle.

A PORTHCAWL Comprehensive pupil has been honoured in the recent WJEC achievement awards, which took place at the exam board's head office in Cardiff.

Madeleine Williamson-Sarll, who gained five A grades at AS level and three A* and one A at A-level, received the award for the best A-level results in Welsh second language in the UK.

A gifted linguist, raised in a German-English speaking environment, Madeleine studied German, Welsh, English and French for A-level, having also studied Religious Education to AS level.

Madeleine is a passionate advocate for the Welsh language and all language learning, with her dedication being rewarded not just with her outstanding results, but with the coveted Chair in the 2014 School Eisteddfod, for her poem 'Pobl Ifanc Yng Nghymru'.

She recently worked for a few months in Austria as part of her gap year and intends reading German at university next autumn. Madeleine is considering working in Patagonia in the New Year, with the aim of y teaching it to youngsters in one of the Welsh schools there.

She also hopes to start tackling Spanish, adding a fourth foreign language to her repertoire.

One of Madeleine's Welsh teachers, Mrs Anne Weedon, accompanied her to the prestigious award ceremony. She said: "Congratulations to Madeleine on achieving the WJEC award for the highest mark in A-Level Welsh (Second Language) in the UK.

"She gained 593/600 UMS marks, which included full marks in three modules. This was a fantastic achievement and it was a pleasure to join her at the awards ceremony. She is an incredibly clever and hardworking student and deserves this recognition. Llongyfarchiadau a phob lwc am y dyfodol."

Madeleine was one of 75 students honoured across the UK. She said: "I am extremely proud of this achievement and would like to thank my Welsh teachers for their support and encouragement. I hope to continue with my Welsh studies in the future and to build on this success."

Porthcawl Comprehensive headteacher Mr Andrew Slade also congratulated Madeleine personally: "This is a truly outstanding achievement and we are very proud of the honour you have brought to yourself, the school and the community.

"All of your examination marks during your time at Porthcawl Comprehensive School were first class.

"Gaining the top mark in Welsh is a reflection of your fantastic aptitude for languages, as well as your hard work and determination.

"I wish you every success with your chosen career. Well done, Madeleine!"

Infants school wins an award

Dinas Powys Infants School has become the 29th school in Wales to win the NACE Challenge Award for more able and talented pupils.

It is given for high quality work by the school in challenging all pupils, particularly those more able and talented, to achieve their potential.

NACE chief executive, Rowena Gaston, said: "Dinas Powys Infants School has worked hard to win the NACE Challenge Award status. It has shown itself to be committed to developing a school where all pupils are challenged to be the best they can be.

"The more able and talented children are challenged and this helps the other learners to see what can be achieved."

Assessors for NACE (the National Association for Able Children in Education) spent a day at the school observing lessons.

FLY-TIPPING CAMPAIGN

THE Vale Council enforcement and compliance team has taken to the streets – to highlight the problem of fly-tipping and litter.

Coun Rob Curtis, senior enforcement officer Denny White, and officers from the cleansing team distributed leaflets (above) to residents and businesses along High Street, Barry, encouraging them to report incidents.

Free compost

FROM January 2015, Vale residents will once again be able to collect free compost.

Cowbridge Compost, the company that deals with the Vale's food and green garden waste, will deliver a supply every month to the Court Road Depot in Barry.

Residents will be able to collect compost between the hours of 10am and 2pm on the last Sunday of the month, with the exception of December.

Coun Rob Curtis, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "I am pleased to see an important and much-missed service reinstated by the council."

The existing free wood chipping collection will still run as normal on the last Sunday of the month.

John Homfray of Cowbridge Compost said: "We are delighted to be working in partnership with the council in reinstating this popular and environmentally friendly service to the residents of the Vale."

Residents are advised, when collecting the compost, to bring a shovel, a suitable container, protective gloves and suitable footwear.

Missing cat returns after seven years

(thanks to microchip)

A ginger cat who went missing for seven years is back home in time for the New Year, thanks to a microchip and the Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre.

Sheer bliss! Julie and Garfield are reunited after seven long years. PHOTOGRAPH BY SUE DOBBS

Nine-year-old cat Garfield has been reunited with his owner, Julie Calder, after disappearing from her home while out on a prowl seven long years ago.

In December 2012, Garfield turned up at a house in the same area as his original home. Mistaking him for a stray, a lady looked after him for two years before bringing him to Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre when she could no longer care for him.

The centre scanned Garfield for a chip and, though it showed up an old address, the centre did a bit of extra detective work and managed to track down Julie, who had since moved house.

Julie came to collect Garfield on Tuesday, (December 30), in an emotional reunion.

She said: "I am over the moon to have Garfield back home after seven years. I never stopped thinking about him and wondering where he was.

"He is going to be very spoilt now!"

Having been very grumpy during his time with Cats Protection, Garfield visibly relaxed as soon as he saw his owner.

Sue Dobbs, the manager of the Bridgend Adoption Centre, said: "Julie just picked him up, something we haven't been able to do, and he proceeded to lick her face. Apparently he used to do this before he went missing. It was lovely to see.

"It's a great feeling to reunite Garfield and Julie, especially at this time of year. Thousands of cats go missing every year and, sadly, almost one in two never return, so we're grateful that in this case at least there's been a happy ending.

"If you own a pet cat that isn't already 'chipped' then now is the perfect time to make a New Year's resolution and talk to your vet about the procedure.

"Microchipping cats, and keeping the contact details up to date, significantly increase the chances of happy reunion if those cats should ever go missing. And if you are feeding a stray too, then consider ringing a local animal charity or a vet to see if a scan may reveal a microchip."

Microchips contain a unique identification number and are inserted under the cat's skin between the shoulder blades. The number is linked to a database containing details of the pet, as well as the owner's contact details. When a scanner detects the microchip, a simple phone call can ascertain the owner's details and the pet can then be quickly returned home.

Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre is part of a national network of more than 250 volunteer-run branches and 31 adoption centres that together help over 194,000 cats and kittens every year. For more information about the charity, please log on to www.cats.org.uk

For further information, contact bridgend.manager@cats.org.uk or Sue Dobbs on 01656 726621.

Valeways walks should keep you active in 2015!

THE evenings may have closed in and the temperatures may have dropped, but Valeways Volunteers still lead walks 52 weeks a year throughout the Vale.

So why not come and join us? The majority of the walks are just 90 minutes long and give you the opportunity to discover other areas of the Vale. A New Year's Day Walk with Dave starts at 1pm outside St Peter's Church, Mill Road, Dinas Powys, and on Sunday, January 4, meet Phil by Barry Island Railway Station at 2.30pm for the 'Island in Winter'.

Ruth's bilingual Walk 'Hoffi Coffi' meets outside the Coffee Cove Café on Barry Island at 10am on January 6.

The more active can join our longer walks and explore new areas of the Vale footpath network. The next one is on January 29 meeting at 10am at the Sportsman's Rest, Peterston Super Ely for a seven-mile 'Fore' with John.

The Coffee Shop Strollers walks take place every Wednesday 10.30am, alternating between the Knap in Barry (meet outside Romilly's café and Cosmeston Country Park (Visitors Centre).

The next Stroll will take place on January 7 at Cosmeston.

Winter programme details can be found on the Valeways website –www.valeways.org.uk or by emailing info@valeways.org.uk

Vale Council signs the White Ribbon pledge

Signing the White Ribbon pledge.

THE Vale Council, along with domestic abuse support service, Atal y Fro, has launched its White Ribbon Campaign at an event in the Civic Offices.

Council members, including Leader Neil Moore and council officers signed the White Ribbon Campaign pledge, which promises "never to commit, condone, or remain silent about men's violence against women in all its forms."

The White Ribbon town award was presented to the Vale Council at the Senedd in Cardiff on September 30, recognising the council's continued commitment to the aims of the campaign.

Grant scheme helps young entrepreneurs

WHILE TV's The Apprentice has been gripping the nation, five entrepreneurs have set up new businesses in the Vale – thanks to a bursary scheme led by Creative Rural Communities (CRC).

The new businesses range from an online store selling 'steam punk' inspired accessories to a freelance sound recording service for TV and film production companies.

A beauty salon, a bi-lingual childminding service and a new clothing company have also been supported through 'Inspiring the Vale' bursaries.

CRC, the Vale Council's rural regeneration initiative, has encouraged young entrepreneurs in the Vale to apply for grants up to £3,000 to launch their own business.

Helmanas Lik, who has launched online steam punk accessory store Noble Lion, said: "Thanks to the 'Inspiring the Vale' bursary, I will finally be able to turn my hobby into a profitable business.

"It would have taken me a few years to save up enough money for a successful business start but thanks to the Creative Rural Communities, I have the opportunity to make it happen now."

This is the second time the scheme project has been run by CRC. Between 2008 and 2011, 23 new businesses were supported – from barbers to photographers, and from caterers to those specialising in renewable energy.

"It is so encouraging to see new businesses being created across the Vale," said Coun Lis Burnett, cabinet member for regeneration, innovation, planning and transportation.

"This scheme encourages innovation from our young entrepreneurs. The team at Creative Rural Communities provide the support and encouragement they need to make their dream a reality, and we hope we see many more success stories in 2015."

KPC says 'thank you for a memorable year'

KPC in Pyle would like to extend their thanks once again this year to everyone who has supported the charity during 2014.

Again we have had a busy and exciting year, with new projects starting and the change from being KPC Youth, to being KPC Youth & Community.

This has followed on from recent work we have begun to do, not just with young people, but with their parents and the wider community in which we live, particularly those who are unemployed.

Thanks as always go to everyone who has supported us in some way – be it through supporting our collection boxes, buying raffles, donating clothes, toners, stamps, inks etc, or supporting events, and also those who have undertaken sponsored events for us.

We also thank all our regular monthly supporters and organisations, such as Porthcawl Lions, who undertake local fundraising events of their own to help charities such as ours.

We also thank everyone who has made donations or gifts in time to us throughout the year – a big thanks to all who believe in the work we do, and help us achieve our aims.

2014 has seen KPC needing to review its staffing structure, in order that we can ensure our future. As part of this, a new evening timetable of opening will be introduced in the New Year, and also a trial after-school club for ages 5-plus on one evening per week.

Following on from our Buy a Brick Appeal, we have now secured funding from South East Wales Community Economic Development Fund and BAVO Social Enterprise Grant Scheme for professional fees so that architects' plans can be drawn up and full planning submitted for our proposed two-storey development, to replace the existing portakabin.

This is an exciting time for us, and one we have worked towards for several years. We will still need to secure major capital funding towards this, but have been invited to put in full applications for this.

If you live locally and want to find out more on what KPC can offer, please contact us, or drop in. We are currently running regular accredited training for unemployed, as well as one to one support with IT/CV skills and help with job applications etc.

Other new pilots we have recently started are 'cuppa & craft' sessions for anyone 16-plus on a Thursday afternoon - again these are open to any members of the community.

New for January we will also have the Citizens' Advice Bureau here on a Thursday afternoon, twice a month from 1pm to 3pm.

These sessions will be by appointment only, so please contact the centre if you would like some help, guidance or advice on dealing with debt, managing a budget, and benefit entitlements.

If you are interested in finding out more about anything mentioned above, please contact Alison on 01656 749219, kpcyouth@hotmail.com.

Alison Mawby (Project development manager)

PORTHCAWL'S Christmas Morning Swim has gone from strength to strength in recent years, with its twin aims of providing a fun, social start to the big day, and of fundraising for local good causes.

This year, more than 1,500 swimmers dived in!

IT'S A CRISP CHRISTMAS MORNING IN PORTHCAWL SO 'SEND IN THE CLOWNS'

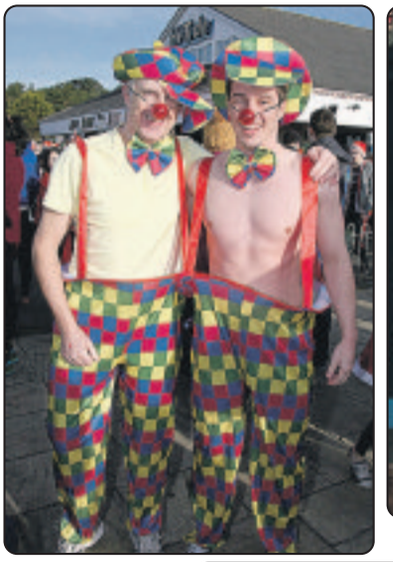
PHOTOGRAPHS by MALCOLM NUGENT

ORGANISERS asked swimmers to dress as clowns or Vikings for this year's Porthcawl Christmas swim – and quite a few did!

Altogether, 1,500 swimmers braved the cold waters, with many raising funds for local charities.

ABOVE: Clowns, clowns, everywhere, and these bear a disturbing resemblance to Stephen King's Pennywise!

'It's so cold!'



Baywatch comes to Porthcawl!

Mike and Rick's brand new books are reviewed...

For the first time, the full true story behind two of the biggest changes in Welsh rugby and football is told.

Mike Hall reveals new details about how Cardiff City Stadium was built, the controversial role of former owner Sam Hammam, and how close to failure the project was on many occasions.

Hall is also a former captain of Cardiff and Wales, so there are many new stories from the world of rugby – including how close Wales came to being the base for the Packer-circus style pair of professional rugby franchises in Cardiff and Swansea, rather than the current regional system.

The book gives great insight into the transition from the amateur to the professional era in Welsh rugby, with stories about the controversy of that period.

The book also follows Mike at some of his fundraising events, and shows the great work he and other rugby stars have done to raise money for Velindre Cancer Centre.

"I have been involved in some big stories in Welsh sport and this is the chance to set the record straight," said Hall.

"I am delighted proceeds from the book will help the cancer care at Velindre Hospital – a thoroughly worthy cause."

Mike, who gives his unique verdict on the current state of play in Welsh football and rugby, and about which of the two can lay claim to being the national sport of Wales, with some surprising answers.

The Mike Hall Story is published by Y Lolfa at £9.95.

RICK O'SHEA was born in Wales, raised in England and is of Irish ancestry – three countries he wasn't good enough to play for!

However, this very ordinary player tells an extraordinary story in his book Rick O' Shea – It's All Rugby (published by Y Lolfa at £9.95).

In an unusual, colourful and humorous story, we visit Cornwall where Rick grew up; Australia, where his father lives; and go back and forth to Wales, and many points in between.

The journey, like this book, is what you might imagine, plus a whole lot more.

As Nigel Owens said: "It's not often that we come across real characters in sport these days, but Rick O'Shea is one of them. He has the skill to make things fun to watch and is also very knowledgeable.

"Rick is one of the genuine guys who has time for everyone and is always a pleasure to work with."

Some 207 pages, with 14 pages of illustrations, this book reveals how Rick has been haunted by fears of perennial underachievement both on and off the pitch, until that is, he became a father and qualified as a doctor in his 40s.

For the first time, he began to realise the 'big match potential' an old headmaster had spotted.

Be Bop Boru is trainer Tim's winning baby!

ABERTHIN'S Tim Vaughan, who is the leading trainer at Fakenham, landed the opening Christmas Handicap Hurdle last Sunday with his Be Bop Boru which won by three and three-quarter lengths from Changeofluck.

Seven-year-old Be Bop Boru, which shared top weight of 11st 7lbs with the runner-up, was ridden by Alan Johns and was made the 6-4 favourite in a field of eight runners.

EVAN'S ACROSS THE CARD DOUBLE

Llancarfan's Evan Williams had an across the card double last week.

His Laser Hawk, ridden by Adam Wedge, was a 20-1 winner of the maiden hurdle race at Newbury and at Ludlow, where he is the leading trainer, his It's A Steal, partnered by Paul Moloney, took the novices' handicap chase.

It's A Steal, who was winning for the second time in a week, went off the 11-8 favourite.

TIM'S BOXING DAY WINNER

Benability*, a four-year-old bay gelding by Beneficial, was a Boxing Day winner for Aberthin's Tim Vaughan in the Conditional Jockeys Handicap Hurdle race at Fontwell.

Well ridden by Conor Walsh, Benability, a 5-1 chance, won by four and a half lengths from Nouailhas.

JAMES' SUCCESS AT COTTENHAM

The Vale's James Tudor won the open maiden race at the Cambridgeshire Hunt Point-To-Point Steeplechases on Brians Well, which went off the 3-1 favourite.

However, earlier in the day, James' mount Harbour Court, who was made an odds-on favourite to land the men's open race, was beaten a short head by Brackloon High.

Some racegoers were of the opinion that the result should have gone the other way and, but for a bad mistake by Harbour Court in the closing stages of the race, James would almost certainly have won.

ROSIES PEACOCK BEATEN

Wales' prolific point-to-pointer Rosies Peacock was beaten into second place by Temple Grandin in the men's open race at the Harkaway Point-To-Point at Chaddesley Corbett on Monday.

However, his rider, Welsh champion John Mathias, still had plenty to smile about as he was successful on 10-1 chance Gale Force Lucy in the club members' restricted race and Shames A Bunch in the club members' maiden event.

Threadbare Barry Seconds defeated

BARRY 2nd XV travelled to St Josephs with a threadbare squad more in hope than expectation.

Coach Rhidian Scott and player-manager Ken Chow were faced with a string of late withdrawals and unavailability, with reasons ranging from overindulgence to pantomime.

With resources stretched to the limit, there was a recall for Jamie Jones who played his first game for two years, while there were also nine other changes from the side which beat Cardiff Saracens. Chow himself started on the wing for the first time since the same fixture last season.

The opening omens were not good. Barry were hoping that with their heavier pack could dominate proceedings in the tight, but the home side negated that by informing their opposition of their intention to go uncontested in the scrums from the off.

Unlike the visitors, St Josephs had no first-team fixture so also had the full squad to choose from, and their quality showed in the early proceedings.

Lacking the structure of their hosts, Barry struggled to find much rhythm and St Josephs raced into the 15-0 lead before the visitors had a chance to shine with ball in hand.

There were good carries in the tight from Nick Lundy, Jon Morris, Nick Rolfe and Lee Turnbull, while the new half-back partnership of Mepham and Dicks controlled matters behind the pack.

Having missed a long range penalty earlier, Dave Evans did get the visitors on the scoresheet with a well-struck penalty to reduce the deficit. At halftime Barry found themselves only 15-3 down.

Barry's cause was not helped when they were harshly reduced to 14 men early in the second half with the sin-binning of Jon Morris, and the hosts quickly increased their lead with another try out wide.

Despite their numerical disadvantage, Barry rallied and produced their best period of the game, with Lloyd Jones and Jon Morris making breaks from midfield, giving the platform for the visitors to lay siege on the home line.

The pressure eventually told when Dave Evans crashed through for a well-deserved try and Evans added the extras to leave the score 20-10.

Just when the visitors were dreaming of a miraculous comeback, they found themselves another man down when Dicks was sent to the bin. This time there was no repeat of the earlier heroics as St Josephs fully exploited the space out wide to score six unanswered tries in the 10 minutes of numerical advantage.

Despite tiring legs and with only half of the bench filled, Barry fought on until the final whistle. The final score did not reflect the effort of the players involved and the management would like to thank the excellent attitude shown by those who turned up for this tough fixture.

The 2nd XV return to action with a trip to St Peters on January 3, while the 3rd XV also visit Sully Sports on the same day.

Father Christmas recently showed up at Holton Road football school.

The Holton Road soccer schools are growing from strength to strength!

HOLTON ROAD have been running their school since August and now have around 35 children on their books.

Through high demand, they are now teaching children from the age of four up to eight years old.

The aim as a soccer school is to promote teamwork, communication, self confidence in younger children and it stresses a non competitive environment and promotes fun above all else.

"On behalf of Holton Road AFC and all the children, we would like to thank Elephant Beds for their very generous sponsorship of our new under-8s team for next season. We also would like to thank all parents for consistently supporting us and also playing a part in the smooth running of the school," a spokesman said.

They are recruiting in January with limited availability.

Local sisters win Commonwealth Tae Kwon Do medals at the Games

A LONG two months of hard work, preparation, blood, sweat and tears reached a winning climax at the sixth Commonwealth Tae Kwon Do championships in Edinburgh.

Ellie and Ruth May from Llantwit Major more than justified their selection for the Welsh national Tae Kwon Do team by medalling at this prestigious event.

The athletes came from all over Wales and with the superstar of Tae Kwon Do, Jade Jones MBE Olympic champion, in the team, spirits were high.

The training regime started building up so they would peak for the competition with the inclusion of dietitian Huw Alford, Nutrafit and the guys from Force Strength and Conditioning helping prepare the twins for what would be the biggest event they had ever been part of.

Master Paul Jones was their coach, and put together a tough training schedule to get them to the peak of their abilities for the trip to Edinburgh.

They joined the rest of the Welsh team in squad training sessions at the GB Academy in Manchester, the National Sport Centre of Wales in Cardiff and Llantwit Major Leisure Centre.

Flying up on the Thursday with most of the Welsh team, they settled into the hotel as Paul went with the other coaches to a meeting at the Meadowbank Stadium.

In the evening they all met up for food and had an update on the rules, timings and logistics for the coming days and relaxed.

The Friday started early with the rest of the Welsh team arriving and heading to the venue for the weightings. It was a long day with nearly 600 competitors to get through, but everyone made their weight categories so that was one pressure off.

On Saturday, the feeling was positive. Ellie was competing alongside some of the other Welsh team.

There was lots of banter and excitement with the other countries, especially the English and Australian teams, which made for a good distraction for the fighters, and with the Nigerian team sat directly behind with their supporters dancing and singing, everyone was smiling.

The opening ceremony was great with all the teams walking in with their mascot and national flag. Ruth had the honour of leading the team out as flag bearer. It was a wonderful atmosphere, especially when the pipers came out and played the Scottish national anthem.

Ellie was up against an Australian first, and fought very well, standing her ground and scoring some nice shots against an aggressive player. Ellie has great flexibility and was pressing hard for the head shot but the Aussie was covering very well. Paul told Ellie to be strong and it paid off with her opponent getting too many deductions and was disqualified.

A great tactical win for Ellie and the next fighter she would be against was from England and favourite for the gold, as she was in the GB squad, and a multiple champion, very experienced and a fighter Ellie knew was very good.

Ellie was nervous, but got on the mat and fought her heart out scoring some good shots against one of the best junior females around. The experience and timing of the English girl shone through on the day though, and took the match hitting Ellie with some hard shots to the face which we were worried may have broke Ellie's nose at the time. Her opponent went on to win the category.

A proud moment came when Ellie stood on the podium to collect her bronze medal. Ellie and Jade were the only Welsh athletes to medal on day one.

The Sunday again began early with more of the Welsh team hoping to do well including Jade Jones who was by far the favourite for the gold, and Ruth May, hoping to follow in her sister's footsteps from the previous day.

The draw put Ruth up against an athlete from India first who was a unknown quantity, and watching her warm up and doing the full splits against the wall gave an indication she could definitely kick to the head.

Ruth had warmed up, but were kept waiting for a while at the mat, but this made no difference as Ruth was in the zone and as soon as the fight started went on the attack. She was scoring some excellent head shots, listening to Paul intently and her dominance was total by the end of round two, as she managed to gain a 12 point gap over her opponent which stopped the match.

It was a successful trip to Glasgow for the Welsh Tae Kwon Do team.

Ruth was against a world top 10 ranked fighter from Canada who had already fought in the senior competition, just missing out on a medal and had beaten one of our senior females along the way. It was going to be a tough match.

Ruth started well getting some odd body shot points, but the Canadian player was head hunting looking for the big points. It was a close match with Ruth getting some good head shots also, but Ruth got stuck a little in the corner of the mat and being aware of not stepping off the fighting area (a half point deduction).

This distraction gave the Canadian the chance to get a few very quick head shots and with the electronic head guards being employed it was enough for her to take the match. The Canadian went on to win gold for Canada.

It was great to see the two Welsh girls with the flag on the podium together. Wales positioned eighth out of 28 countries, which wasn't bad at all considering the small team that was taken to the competition, and there was a 100 per cent medal record for Llantwit Major Tae Kwon Do, which is outstanding – two Commonwealth medallists in one house is some achievement.

Coach Paul Jones said: "This ranks up there with one of my proudest moments in all my years of Tae Kwon Do which includes competing and coaching. The girls have worked very hard and have been with our Llantwit club for 11 years, but have only been competing at a higher level for a short time. I'm sure they will continue on this success in 2015.

"I would like to thank all the local companies, and our club who made this possible with fund raising and sponsorship."

Derby defeat for Cowbridge RFC

COWBRIDGE RFC entertained Llantwit Major before Christmas at the Athletic Field and went down 6-30.

The very wet weather gave way to a bright and chilly afternoon. Cowbridge made a number of changes and were forced to concede uncontested scrums due to injuries and unavailability.

After 13 minutes three penalties had been put over, two by Llantwit and one by Carwyn Morgan, taking a break from his work with Bath. The game was disjointed but Cowbridge were competing well. There was some great tackling from Luke and Connor Boys and Morgan was doing his share in the midfield.

On 32 minutes a flare up saw a number of punches thrown and the referee had no alternative than to send a player from both sides off. In the eight minutes before halftime it was mostly Cowbridge pressing and the halftime score was a respectable 3-6.

Five minutes into the second half and Llantwit's hard running inside centre broke through and released his co-centre to score a converted try. On the 10 minute mark for an infringement on the floor their No 7 was yellow carded.

Cowbridge pressed but good defence kept them out, so at the mid point Cowbridge were well in it but in the last quarter Llantwit, with strong backs, ran in three more tries, converting two, and Morgan put another penalty over.

Right at the end the all-action Rhod Walker had a fabulous 55 metre run but unselfishly passed when he might have gone all the way and the movement came to nought.

Llantwit were deserved winners, but it is of real concern that Cowbridge are not stronger and that so many players are unavailable or not playing. With a top quality coach, good facilities and a hardcore of loyal and talented players it is a mystery why that is.

If you have played rugby, or want to start then why not make it a New Year resolution to come down either on your own or with friends. You will be very welcome.

The first game in the new year will be St Albans away on January 3 and then Taffs Well at home on January 10, both games eminently winnable. With a great Six Nations ahead there will be an exciting 2015 with the World Cup in the autumn.

Meanwhile both youth sides were in action in the last 16 of the Welsh Cup on Saturday. In the main competition the BC side travelled to face a strong Caerphilly outfit who are currently lying second in the Gwent A league.

Despite building a commanding lead of 22 points to 5 through tries from Dan Holder (2), Nicky Griffiths, Rhys Elms and Marc Herbert, (conversion by Josh Thomas), a frustrating penalty count, yellow card and multiple injuries allowed Caerphilly back into the game in the final quarter and Cowbridge had to defend manfully against a very talented back line, to secure the win by 22 points to 17.

In the Bowl competition the BD side welcomed Fleu de Lys and in something of an arm wrestle managed to overcome a beligerent visiting side by 7 points to 5, with Iestyn Jones scoring the try and also slotting the all-important conversion.

This brings to a close the first half of the season in which both youth sides have remained undefeated in all competitions. In addition to their domestic success, the boys also squeezed in an autumn tour to Toulon to take on the Academy side of the reigning European Champions. Despite them being undefeated and top of their own French regional league, Cowbridge registered a remarkable victory over Toulon Academy by 20 points to 5.

The boys are under no illusion that as the various cup and league competitions progress towards their latter stages, the games will become even tougher, but the coaches are hopeful the Christmas break will give those boys carrying injuries sufficient time to recover, so that they can field two full strength sides in the new year. RV/RK
